

Let them eat precaution - how politics is undermining the genetic revolution in agriculture

AEI Press - Jon Entine

Description: -

-

Food supply.

Transgenic plants -- Risk assessment.

Transgenic plants.

Plant biotechnology -- Social aspects.

Plant biotechnology. Let them eat precaution - how politics is undermining the genetic revolution in agriculture

-Let them eat precaution - how politics is undermining the genetic revolution in agriculture

Notes: Includes bibliographical references and index.

This edition was published in 2005

Filesize: 50.15 MB

Tags: #Let #Them #Eat #Precaution: #How #Politics #Is #Undermining #the #Genetic #Revolution #in #Agriculture #by #Jon #Entine

Let Them Eat Precaution

Yet, for all its achievements and promise, agricultural biotechnology is under intense fire from advocacy groups warning of Frankenfoods and fanning fear of a corporate takeover of agriculture by biotech firms.

Jon Entine

Jon Entine, the editor, is an adjunct fellow at the institute and a scholar in residence at Miami University in Ohio. Mired in a rancorous trade and cultural war between Europe and the United States and inflamed by a politicized media, this technology remains dramatically underutilized, with particularly tragic consequences for millions of starving people in Africa and other poverty-stricken regions. Sabrina Halvorson, Agriculture Editor Sabrina Halvorson is an award-winning journalist, broadcaster, and public speaker who specializes in agriculture and food.

GLP Staff and Contributors

LET THEM EAT PRECAUTION: HOW POLITICS IS UNDERMINING GENETIC REVOLUTION IN AGRICULTURE By Jon Entine - Hardcover. His research explores the biochemical basis of fruit flavors, how light affects plant traits, and small molecule discovery for next-generation herbicides and antibiotics.

Jon Entine

Organizational affiliations Entine has faced criticism for his alleged links to various corporate interests, accusations he denies. Will be a good Reading copy. Jon Entine, the editor, is an adjunct fellow at the institute and a scholar in residence at in Ohio.

GLP Staff and Contributors

Andrew Porterfield, Senior Contributing Columnist and Editor Andrew has been a writer and editor for more than 20 years, and has worked as a public information officer for the Salk Institute and the University of California-Irvine. He was a union organizer and a chef before his work as a food policy writer. Entine supports the production of, and has criticized writer , after she wrote an article in saying that GMO corn had made her ill.

Jon Entine

My presentation slides are available at the link below and here are some links to the local news coverage of the conference.

Related Books

- Last man
- Peeblesshire - A Guide
- Attitudes towards disabled people at work.
- Lenguajes cruzados - estudios culturales sobre tango y lunfardo
- Money - a comedy in five acts, as performed at the Theatre Royal, Haymarket