Facts About Special Education Legal Rights For Parents

At least once a year, you and other members of the Committee will review your child's IEP. For example, many parents living with severe mental illness will need support in learning parenting knowledge, attitudes, and practices, specifically in understanding normal child development and milestones and how to provide emotional support for their children.

Special Education and Parental Involvement

If you do not provide consent for your preschool child ages 3-5 to be evaluated, the Committee on Preschool Special Education will take steps to make sure that you have received and understand the request for consent for evaluation of your child but the district may not go forward without your consent. Home-school notes are especially effective.

Facts About Special Education Legal Rights For Parents

Oxytocin motivates social behavior by stimulating a reward response to proximity and social interaction and has been shown to increase significantly in both mother and infant during periods of close contact and breastfeeding. This home-based intervention is currently being studied in a large, randomized clinical trial funded by the National Institute on Drug Abuse. As a parent of a child with a disability or suspected disability, you will receive notices to tell you about proposed special education services, meetings and your rights.
