An investigation into housing problems and housing provision, using London as an example. (1986 edition)

The number of homes for rent from councils or housing associations in the UK has been decreasing from a peak of around seven million in the early 1980s, to just under five million in 2014. Indeed, ARLA would like to see further changes to CGT such as the introduction of roll-over relief and taper relief, which are already available to businesses owners. We're determined to put that right and rebuild the trust and give residents confidence in us.
