The poison pill: EU defence on US terms?

I said that I did. While this more outward-looking posture led to a greater emphasis on equipment interoperability, Switzerland has joined neither NATO nor the European Union, and some Swiss defense industry executives are concerned that while they may have products that are acceptable within NATO, they lack the governmental and political support enjoyed by their European competitors to turn this to advantage.

Small Arms Survey

One concerning trend that the Center raises is that The United States is more willing than ever to sell or give away weapons to countries that have pledged assistance in the global war on terror. . True Story Soldiers Spoke, Soldiers Stood For Peace, Not Self Destruction: The Christmas truce touched the men deeply as evidenced in their letters and diaries.

Cleaning up after WWII

Large numbers of these guns were also produced by Savage for the and in an aircraft configuration, for and. For the reason of supplying and logistics, both in times of emergency and day to day operations, I-40 is a main artery in the U.

'Military grade' doesn't mean what you think it means

Considering these numbers, it seems that there is a controlling amount of Militech stock that could become the target of a lever-aged group acquisition. This instinct is what has kept us from being eaten by lions in the bushes for thousands of years. S consequently opted to nationalize Arasaka and Militech facilities, with the threatening to follow suit if tensions failed to diminish.

Pros and Cons of Autonomous Weapons Systems

As a result, India is seeking to increase their military spending, while arms dealers are only too willing to help both India and Pakistan.
