Child & Family Services, Inc

For more information about research evidence on what works to close the gap on Indigenous disadvantage, visit the Closing the Gap clearinghouse Practice considerations Practice considerations are general principles based upon lessons from research and practice designed to provide additional guidance to service providers about specific issues relating to children and families, especially as they relate to disadvantaged Australian communities. © 1998-2021 Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research MFMER. In addition, through partnerships with community organizations, schools offer health, mental health, and social services to help students overcome barriers to learning.

Engaging Communities to Support Families

We provide funding, administrative grants support, and work with state, tribal, and local agencies and other non-profit organizations to help us carry out mission-critical work.

News

We argue in this report that deportations break families up and have a wider effect on the community as a whole, not just the individual and the family involved. On July 16, 2012, Rep. Wash your hands after handling your child's belongings.
