So I went ahead and discussed this with Michael at and decided to purchase the kit. People make mistakes, all the time. The calculation is for the amount of water produced per hour nominal 21 gph and the time is the number of hours in decimal format for how long it actually took to fill the tank.

Southport

Unfortunately, she was suffering suddenly from a tooth ache, which turned also into an infection... likely due to lowered white blood cell numbers. The next CA-125 tests were 68 and then 71 in September and October respectively.
