Intergovernmental Case Processing Innovation Project Summaries

I have gone through all the paces set for me, jumped through every hoop placed for me, and now after all my really earnest and conscientious effort to be a man and to do a man's work in a man's way I have assumed the responsibility of a home, a wife, and three children; I am holding down a job that has importance beyond the salary-return to me; I am interested in the social activities of my community ; I am reasonably cheerful and good-natured, although at night I am so dead fagged by the crowded activities of the day, that I can scarce do more than tumble into bed ; I am carrying without un- reasonable complaints the load and responsibilities that have come to me as an adult so why am I turned upon and ordered rather scornfully to grow up? Much as we may be critical about both of them, Charcot and Freud are now the masters ; and fussy, furious, pill-dosing physicians who anathematized them have not even flowers on their graves. There has been no man-sized revolution in painting since Impressionism, and that was revolutionary chiefly in the speed with which an obvious, historical tendency in painting was consummated.
