Code of Conduct Throughout the election campaign the political parties and contesting candidates are presumed to endure by a Code of Conduct developed by the Election Commission based on a consent among political parties. To become law it must be passed by both the Houses of Parliament, Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha, and then assented to by the president. Chandra Shekhar then became the Prime Minister in 1990 with the external support of Congress.

Distribution of Lok Sabha Seats in Indian states

That was a dramatic reversal of roles, as the home ministry had, since independence in 1947, banned the CPI thrice, with many of its members, including Gupta, being sent to prison or pushed underground for long stretches. Election Process The election process begins with the issue of notification for the Parliamentary Constituencies and Assembly Constituencies.
