School Inspections

Students might need help adjusting to how COVID-19 has disrupted their daily life.

COVID

Even if your child resumes in-person learning at school, it is important to prepare for the possibility of virtual learning if school closes or if your child becomes exposed to COVID-19 and needs to stay home. Schools will be making changes to their policies and operations with several goals: supporting learning; providing important services, such as school meals, extended daycare, extracurricular activities, and social services; and limiting the transmission of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19. Before school is in session, you may want to talk to your child and explain that all these steps are being taken to keep everyone safe and healthy.

School Inspections

Consider asking what steps your school will take to minimize the potential for students to be singled out or teased for wearing or not wearing a mask. Schools may allow minimal or no interaction between cohorts also sometimes referred to as pods.

School Inspections

If transmission is increasing in your community or if multiple children or staff test positive for COVID-19, the school building might close. For more information on CDC's web notification policies, see. If your school is requiring or encouraging the use of, think about the following actions.

School Inspections

Deciding between in-person and virtual learning? CDC has created a checklist to help with ongoing planning for school year SY 2020-2021. These may include sites with free testing available. You may need to consider the feasibility of teleworking, taking leave from work, or identifying someone who can supervise your child in the event of school building closures or quarantine.
