

Review of the fiery eruption, which defeated the Emperor Julians attempt to rebuild the Temple of Jerusalem - in which Mr. Warburtons arguments are considerd; and upon the whole it is shewn, that there is no sufficient reason, from anything that has been hitherto alledgd, to believe the reality of a miraculous interposition in that event.

Printed for Cooper -

Description: -

-Review of the fiery eruption, which defeated the Emperor Julians attempt to rebuild the Temple of Jerusalem - in which Mr. Warburtons arguments are considerd; and upon the whole it is shewn, that there is no sufficient reason, from anything that has been hitherto alledgd, to believe the reality of a miraculous interposition in that event.

-Review of the fiery eruption, which defeated the Emperor Julians attempt to rebuild the Temple of Jerusalem - in which Mr. Warburtons arguments are considerd; and upon the whole it is shewn, that there is no sufficient reason, from anything that has been hitherto alledgd, to believe the reality of a miraculous interposition in that event.

Notes: Bound with Warburton, William. Julian, 1750.
This edition was published in 1752

Filesize: 16.87 MB

Tags: #

.
...
...
..

Related Books

- Principles and techniques of histochemistry
- Outlines of Islamic jurisprudence
- The diction of poetry from Spenser to Bridges.
- Wind power installations - Present condition and possible lines of development.
- Civilisation de l'Égypte pharaonique.