Mountsorrel Railway

More details to follow nearer the time. Never the less, Progress has reached the Swithland Lane bridge from the GCR junction and will progress to Bond Lane before the opening.

Newsletter: October 2017

The building that is Iceland stands on the very spot where Heathcoat's lacemaking factory was in 1816, and it is under the little alleyway we've just walked through that the Woodbrook meets with the other little streams, and flows off towards the Rushes via Brook Side. Work continues to complete the remaining railway related tasks required before the line can open.
