A Genealogy of Dissent: The Progeny of Fallen Royals in Chosŏn Korea 1503602087, 9781503602083

Observing that the court had not had a chance to look after the progeny of Koryŏ, Kojong ordered that, from this point on, Wangs from good families should be employed at entry levels as civil, military, or shadow privilege appointees. Subsequently, in February 1906, Japan established the Residency-General of Korea. Afterward, upon receiving your command through a royal secretary, I learned that you were promoting me to the junior second rank.
