Tom Aiken went to Henderson Sunday and W. W. Aiken on Monday night, called there by the illness and death of their father, J. D. Aiken, who was 70 years of age and had been in bad health, due to paralysis, for some time. They returned to Crockett Tuesday night. J. D. Aiken came with his mother and family from South Carolina when nine years old and had lived in Rusk county, where he died, sixty-one years. His wife was Miss Eva Harris of Henderson, but a Georgian by birth, who died close to twenty years ago. He was a Confederate veteran, having served through the four years of the civil war with a company from Rusk county. His occupation was that of farming.
