They decided to take rest there for a while, leaving the dog named Qitmir near the entrance as a guard. The knowledge of these places has been passed down through the ages and in some cases more than one location make claim to hosting the same historical place. Through much of the history of Rabbinic Judaism, a mystical strand of Jewish thought—sometimes at the intellectual and spiritual heart of the tradition, often at its institutional periphery—has danced with the Hidden Presence of God in the world, sometimes, the hidden presence of God in the earth itself.
