1946

It is determined to control the occupied territories and spread its supremacy over all the region.

Mercenary involvement during the Angolan conflicts 1975/76 and 1986/89.

It was a survival from the regime of the old Greek city-states, but in the Hellenistic Age the absence of national independence erased all reason for this military training: between the 3rd and 2nd centuries bce the Athenian ephebeia eventually reduced to a single year was transformed into a leisured civilian college where a minority of rich young men came to be initiated into the refinements of the elegant life.

International Conference on the Question of Palestine (ICQP)

This paper reviews the role of education in promoting economic well-being, with a particular focus on the role of educational quality.

Namibian Timeline

Self-restraint, which even in the possession of might is able to renounce the disregard of interests of others, the expansionism and violation of other peoples rights, even if means are available to it. A recent ILO working paper warns that the expulsion order is a threat to the economic recovery programme currently being implemented in Mozambique It outlines three ways in which the expulsion order is likely to affect the economy: it will exacerbate rural and urban unemployment, undermine rural trade and transport in the southern provinces, and sharply reduce the foreign exchange reserves necessary to maintain and expand existing productive capacity.

UN General Assembly Resolution 38/17 (November 1983)

They had no assistants and used no textbooks. The classics now became the core of the curriculum, but music, rituals, and archery were still included. While it is correctly associated with a form of internal political violence, so too are guerrilla warfare and terrorism.
