Seeds of hope

Poems to recommend to your best friends. Her selection takes us from the early 1980s — led by the likes of John Ashbery and Czesław Miłosz — to movers and shakers of today such as Claudia Rankine and Terrance Hayes. There is no past or future in the here and now only the universal truth that transcends us beyond times and places hence aligned with timelessness.

Poetry that sews the seeds of thought

It was so successful, in fact, that festival organisers Sandra Burnett and Jane Kitsen decided to launch a small poetry press on the back of it — and so the not-for-profit community interest company Otley Word Feast Press was born. Each latent cell puts out a future, Unfolds its differing complexity As a tree puts forth leaves, and spins a fate Fern-traced, bird feathered, or fish-scaled.

The Ecopoetry Anthology: Fisher

My anthology Lifesaving Poems, based on the blog of the same name, is available from Bloodaxe Books.

anthology

It depends on how it's used and who controls it.

Poetry of the Sacred

Perhaps the most elegant translator of ancient Greek poetry into modern English, Barbara Hughes Fowler offers translations true to the original Greek while providing modern readers with superb examples of the beauty of lyric poetry.

Poetry that sews the seeds of thought

To celebrate the release of I Am the Seed that Grew the Tree, a beautifully illustrated collection of nature poems, we are inviting budding poets aged 7-11 across the nation to write a poem inspired by the natural world.

Seeds Poem by Sherko Bekas

He wrote the first stanza I wrote the second stanza We wrote the third and fourth stanza together.
