A Hotspot for contemporary art in the south of France: Villa Noailles

Marie-Laure de Noailles, Vicomtesse de Noailles, born Marie-Laure Henriette Anne Bischoffsheim, the only child of a French aristocrat mother and a Paris banker of German Jewish and American Quaker descent, lived in Paris in what was known as Hôtel Bischoffsheim or De Noailles, which now houses the Musée Baccarat, a private museum of Baccarat crystal. Ten year after its older festival, launched in 2016, Design Parade Toulon follows the same goals. Marianne was very warm and helpful.

Design Parade Hyères

It probably started with a boundless fascination for the Stoclet Palace, at 281 Tervuren Avenue in Brussels built by the architect Josef Hoffmann for Adolphe Stoclet, a wealthy financier and art lover. Had to park at nearest paid parking lot and walk then push luggage uphill to hotel.
