Young, Gifted and Black

All sixty-one of the artists who took place in the telling of 'Lorraine Hansberry in Her Own Words' to commemorate her on the second anniversary of her death, including Anne Bancroft, Lauren Bacall, Ralph Bellamy, Bette Davis, Ruby Dee, Colleen Dewhurst, Rita Moreno, Paul Robeson, Sidney Poitier, Maureen Stapleton, Rod Steiger and so many more - I'm even bigger fans of all of them. Plan yours here, with ticket reservation info, hours, admission, accessibility, and directions. I wish she was here today.

But for the first time picked up a copy at my daughter's school library, waiting for a meeting to start.

To Be Young, Gifted and Black

Lorraine Hansberry was extremely wise beyond her years.

To Be Young, Gifted, and Black (TV Movie 1972)

While I found some of the dramatic excerpts relevant in context, I found myself more moved by the narrative sections, maybe because they captured more of Hansberry in her own words. She inspired me to write and to just be.
