He sings it convincingly, though, once again proving his oft-ignored versatility.

The Living Legend

Strait has also won 22 , including consecutive Entertainer of the Year honors in 1989 and 1990, and also just recently won that same honor in 2013 and is the only artist to win the top honor in three different decades and holds the career record for CMA nominations as a whole and the most consecutively of all time. He came to the Chronicle in 2004 from Rolling Stone, where he spent five years writing about music.
