The Project Gutenberg eBook of A

Compilation of the Messages and Papers Of The Presidents, by James D. Richardson.

To the Senate of the United States: I transmit to Congress a general abstract of the militia of the United States, in pursuance of the act of March 2, 1803. Upon the expiration of a single month from the day of his installation he has paid the great debt of nature, leaving behind him a name associated with the recollection of numerous benefits conferred upon the country during a long life of patriotic devotion. A specific example of a fishing boat meeting a vessel on the high seas is, I believe, somewhere in my files.

MYERS v. UNITED STATES

I am happy in committing the important affairs of the country into your hands. A change of the Chief Magistrate, therefore, would not occasion so violent or so general a revolution in the officers of the government as might be expected if he were the sole disposer of offices. Finally, a compromise was reached under which it took the joint action of the Executive and the Senate to appoint as provided in Sec.

To the Senate of the United States: I transmit to Congress a report from the Director of the Mint of the operations of that institution during the last year. The Senate Labor Committee, through its Chairman, explicitly reported to the Senate that a general grant of seizure powers had been considered and rejected in favor of reliance on ad hoc legislation, as a particular emergency might call for it.
