IFAC 51 2015 , 18—26. Heidegger himself states their differences this way: For Husserl, the phenomenological reduction is the method of leading phenomenological vision from the natural attitude of the human being whose life is involved in the world of things and persons back to the transcendental life of consciousness and its noetic-noematic experiences, in which objects are constituted as correlates of consciousness. Conical intersections are linked to the energy of quantum systems.

Universal expansion The expansion of the universe causes distant galaxies to recede from us faster than the speed of light, if proper distance and cosmological time are used to calculate the speeds of these galaxies. All of them are indexed in MathSciNet and two of them in the Science Citation Index Expanded, namely the Turkish Journal of Mathematics and Hacettepe Journal of Mathematics and Statistics.
