Grief and Bereavement

Coping and coping mechanisms to grief can vary greatly among individuals. Find out what kind of help was useful. Or, someone who is already beginning to grieve may withdraw.

Interventions

Over time, this can lead to emotional distress in the nurse. As mentioned in Chapter 7, the patient and family can have feelings of loss even as they anticipate an impending loss.

Grieving Nursing Care Plan

There are many ways to provide care for an older person who is dying. Sharing memories of good times is another way some people find peace near death.

Interventions

A dying person may also have some specific fears and concerns. Antidepressants alone have a limited impact on grief intensity but are critical to reduce depressive symptomatology. A shower stool can save a person's energy, as can switching to sponging off in bed.

Nursing Grief and Loss

CGT+PLA CIT+CGT group had highest response rate.

Interventions

Providing resources that may be appropriate during this phase can be very helpful for the individual to try out as they may feel ready for that experience. Where available, studies that have focused on cancer are emphasized.
