Bilkent Journal Publications

Capital mobility in neoclassical models of growth.

Applied Methods for Trade Policy Analysis: A Handbook

When non-linearities were considered across the regional clusters, we found that 18 provinces have already converged with their cluster, 3 provinces are catching up, and 10 regions show divergence. Apprenticeship and after: does it really matter?. Against this backdrop of contradictory evidence, we revisit the issue by questioning if the inflation rate is more volatile than it would have been had South Africa not moved to a flexible exchange rate regime in 1995, using the cosine-squared cepstrum.

Econ 562

Pakistan seems to be caught in a low development trap in which conflict is the main variable to consider before seeing the benefits of reforming the economy. Policy implications of this exercise are important for obvious reasons.

Tax structure for consumption and income inequality: an empirical assessment

The simulations reveal that the unemployment rate falls by between 0.

New Acquisitions

Energy policy: does it achieve its intended goals?.

Macroeconomic adjustment and income distribution: Alternative models applied to two economies

Trade liberalization with Eastern nations: how sensitive?. The results from the impulse response function tend to suggest that the nature of relationship is rather negative.
