All Course Notes for Britain: Power and the people: c1170 to the present day (AQA GCSE History)

Gary Klein is one of the developers of the naturalistic decision making approach, which views people as inherently skilled and experienced.

People Power Arizona Resource Center

Agricultural use, largely for raising irrigation water from deep wells, exceeds domestic consumption.

Meet our People

Social identities reflect the way individuals and groups internalise established social categories within their societies, such as their cultural or ethnic identities, gender identities, class identities, and so on.

4 types of power: What are power over; power with; power to and power within?

Power flows from that attraction. When individuals demonstrate expertise, people tend to trust them and respect what they say. When they have knowledge and skills that enable them to understand a situation, suggest solutions, use solid judgment, and generally outperform others, then people tend to listen to them.
