Design and Implementation of Robust Router Using Vlsi Abstract: In his paper we attempt to give a networking solution by applying VLSI architecture techniques to router design for networking systems to provide intelligent control over the network. Master Thesis, Faculty of Agriculture, University of Baghdad, Iraq. Modern studies of social problems.

Plastics, Rubber and Composites Processing and Applications

The approach will results in increased switching speed of routing per packet for both current trend protocols, which we believe would result in considerable enhancement in networking systems.
