Since Lourdes was but thirty kilometres distant, we were advised to make the attempt and knock on its gates. Is she crazy, is she lying, is she seeking attention, is she trying to help her town or parents, was it a hallucination caused by a medical or mental condition, or was it just some natural event. In his Personal Preface to The Song of Bernadette, Franz Werfel takes up the story: In the last days of June 1940, in flight after the collapse of , the two of us, my wife and I, had hoped to elude our mortal enemies in time to cross the Spanish frontier to , but had to flee back to the interior of France on the very night German troops occupied the frontier town of Hendaye.
