Stories help us know who we are and who we are not; they create boundaries, or borders, for us. Karen Jackson Director serves as the Director of Recovery and Community Initiatives at Project Hospitality in Staten Island. By most United States census projections, somewhere between 2030 and 2050, visible racial and ethnic minority groups will surpass the population of whites in America, due to immigration patterns and differential birthrates U.

Artwork: Janet McKenzie painted the beautiful icons hanging in the conference gallery. Music and Contemplative Practices: Music for the conference liturgies was written and performed by David and Winona Poole. It was fascinating to find wisdom across disciplines that could be applied to leadership in congregations.

Books — Jacqui Lewis

Leaders can be taught to lead, so we will discuss implications for your own leadership, and for other leaders in your context as well. He is an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ and a certified public accountant. Most congregational leaders find it difficult to resist the dominant cultural expectation that different cultural and ethnic groups should stick to themselves—especially when it comes to church.

2021 Summer National Convention (SNC)

They need to be multivocal and develop a congregational identity in which cultural diversity is a moral imperative. We can think of each of those contexts as a holding environment.

2021 Summer National Convention (SNC)

Individual and group identities are formed in holding environments, or containers. But, as psychologist Robert Carter argues, what matters most in American culture is race Carter, 1995.
