Fact: In central Missouri, has been a losing proposition for a number of years. In this area, hair sheep often sell higher than wool sheep. As mentioned earlier, the Katahdin breed has served us well.

Katahdin Sheep: Characteristics, Origin, Uses & Breed Information

Croix are small animals ewes 80-110 pounds , few commercial breeders raise them.

Kataore

University of South Dakota research found it requires 250-300 pounds of dry matter forage to produce each pound of wool. Our white hand-spun tzitzit, both thin and thick, have the kashrut certification of HaRav Vosner of B'nei Brak.

Katahdin Sheep: Characteristics, Origin, Uses & Breed Information

NOTE: Youth may have their own separate membership and flock prefix OR they can be part of their family's Voting Membership. Many Greeks eat lamb for Easter, which is not always the same date as the traditional Easter.

Thirty percent of the ewes were first-time lambers, having an average of 1. Our flock is content to sleep outside in the coldest weather and will have unmelted snow on their backs like a wool animal. This market presented difficulties such as lambing in the dead of winter, having lambs large enough especially when Passover comes early and pooling with your neighbors to find enough lambs for a truckload.
