John Sheil

If you see your name among the John O'Connell High School graduates, someone is looking for you! There are some men who will even declare that they are willing to refuse justice to Ireland; while there are others who, though they are ashamed to say so, are ready to consummate the iniquity, and they do so. I may be laughed and sneered at by those who talk of my power; but what has created it but the injustice that has been done in Ireland? He succeeded in getting more reforms enacted improving the treatment of the Irish. That is the end and the means of the magic, if you please -- the groundwork of my influence in Ireland.

I stand in a situation in which no man ever stood yet -- the faithful friend of my country -- its servant -- its stave, if you will -- I speak its sentiments by turns to you and to itself. He served as a in from September 2004 to 31 December 2006.

I know it may be done out of the House amid the cheers of an assembly of friends; but the government have, in my opinion, wisely abstained from reprobating such measures in the speech, while they have properly exulted in such a union of the two countries as will contribute to the national independence and the public liberty of Europe. He retired from the judiciary at the end of 2006.
