Nursing & Midwifery Leadership

The connections, gaps, nodal points and key players are identified.

The effect of the developing role of the maternity support worker on the professional accountability of the midwife

Ultimately the agenda can only be delivered by clinical teams and the services that support them. Date of submission: March 31 2014; date of acceptance: June 6 2014.

Leadership for evidence

A quantitative study is needed to confirm the necessary management skills that were clarified qualitatively in this study. Implementation and Progress to Date: A Briefing Paper. Leaders in the field say nurses as a whole have an ethical and moral responsibility to engage in for the betterment of their patients.

The development of advanced nursing roles

Consequently some MSWs are performing tasks that would traditionally be undertaken by a midwife, potentially leading to the erosion of the midwife's role in the future. In NHS Lanarkshire, the next steps will be to strengthen integration and synergy with other programmes of work, as well as continuing to develop the work packages and the evidence base. Approximately 12,000 midwives are now certified as advanced midwives in Japan.

Nurse Manager's Role In Policy Decision

It focuses on the improvement of patient care. The patient is the focus of the activity, rather than the practitioner, profession or department.

Developing strategies to attract, retain and support midwives in rural fragile settings: participatory workshops with health system stakeholders in Ituri Province, Democratic Republic of Congo

However, in perinatal medical care, there have been few studies on management skills for midwives as middle managers.

The role of practice development in modernising the NHS

Communicator: As a communicator, the midwives understand the effectiveness of communication. This page talks about the different types of skills or behaviours you can adopt in order to become a leader, and gives examples of how you're probably already a leader without even realising it.

RCN Careers Resources: Leadership skills

Their role is to look after pregnant women and their babies throughout a phase of antenatal care, during labor and birth, and for up to 28 days after the baby has been born. This is a fundamental criterion in the PDU accreditation scheme run by the Centre for the Development of Nursing Policy and Practice Chin and McNichol, 2000. Nurse executives must be strategic about creating professional growth opportunities in order to develop, support, and retain nurse managers.
