

Spirited encounters - American Indians protest museum policies and practices

AltaMira Press - Spirited Encounters: American Indians Protest Museum Policies and Practices, The Public Historian

Description: -

Copyright -- Performing rights -- New Zealand.

Copyright -- Music -- New Zealand.

Patriarchs and patriarchate.

Cardinals.

Vicars apostolic.

Bishops (Canon law)

Lords Supper -- Sermons.

Lords Supper -- Catholic Church.

Lords Supper (Liturgy)

Catholic Apostolic Church. -- Liturgy and ritual.

Magnetic susceptibility

Superconductors

Cultural property -- Repatriation -- United States

Human remains (Archaeology) -- Repatriation -- United States

Museum exhibits -- Moral and ethical aspects -- United States

Museums -- Management -- Moral and ethical aspects

Indians of North America -- Politics and government

Indians of North America -- Material culture

Indians of North America -- MuseumsSpirited encounters - American

Indians protest museum policies and practices

-Spirited encounters - American Indians protest museum policies and practices

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 183-196) and index

This edition was published in 2008

Tags: #Spirited #Encounters: #American
#Indians #Protest #Museum #Policies
#and #Practices #by #Karen #Coody
#Cooper

Spirited Encounters: American Indians

Protest Museum Policies and Practices

Lincoln, Nebraska: University of Nebraska Press, 2009. The local Indians asked the museum if they would be willing to boycott the Olympics.

Spirited Encounters: American Indians Protest Museum Policies and Practices

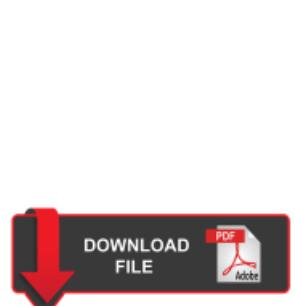

Exhibitions, especially loans, can cost an exorbitant amount of money. Native American people have had a long and uneasy history due to the harshness in treatment of the culture from repatriation through the reclamation of lands. Without going too far off the track, I stayed out of many history and science museums for this purpose.

Spirited Encounters: American Indians Protest Museum Policies and Practices

Turns out, for a Native America exhibit they were building for the Olympics, they had accepted a large donation from Shell to help fund it. Blood is considered a biohazard by the federal government, and has to be cleaned up by a hazmat team. The history of Native Americans in particular and Indigenous Peoples in general has always been a contentious subject in both the academic and museum communities.

Spirited Encounters: American Indian Protests of Museum Policies and Practices

Two major protested exhibitions were The Spirit Sings in Calgary, during the 1988 winter Olympics, and First Encounters, originating in Florida during the quincentennial of the 1492 voyage of Columbus. It is not the materials or the fact that I wanted to learn.

Filesize: 57.74 MB

Spirited Encounters American Indians Protest Museum Policies And Practices PDF Book

. Museum inventories received by the National Park Service, which manages NAGPRA, finds that as many as 600,000 Native human remains have been held by museums across the United States.

Related Books

- Alternative communion offices - proposed by the National Assembly of the Church of England, and by t
- Voyageur françois - ou, La connaissance de l'ancien et du nouveau monde ...
- Use of a mathematical model in the computer control of an industrial distillation tower
- Edelweisspiraten - Protestbewegungen jugendlicher Arbeiter im Dritten Reich : eine Dokumentation
- Archive des Schweigens