Directory by Pigot

Droitwich Worcestershire Pigot's Directory 1842

The most well known publishers of directories include Pigot, Slater, Kelly most noted for the Post Office Directory, White and Bartholomews.

1841 Census

On the death of his mother Frances Anne in 1865 he inherited most of her possessions, including Seaham Harbour and the Durham collieries. Pigot's directories can be a valuable resource for those interested in learning about the towns and villages of their ancestors. A beautiful public walk at the upper end of the town, called 'the Parade', commands an extensive view of the vale, and the picturesque scenery in the neighbourhood, including Abergwilly, the palace of the Bishop of St David's, and the beautiful meanderings of the Towy, through a fine cultivated country.
