Obama found a temporary middle ground in September 2010—naming Warren as an assistant to the president and a special adviser to Geithner with significant autonomy to staff the agency while delaying the decision on who to nominate as director. Phillips, political reporter for the Sacramento Bee 1933-1963 ; An Editor's Long Friendship with Earl Warren, interview with Walter P.

'Why Are You Pissing In Our Face?': Inside Warren's War With the Obama Team

From the summer of 2010 through summer of 2011, the usually unflappable Barack Obama spent long hours agonizing over the then-Harvard Law professor—so much that his aides felt it was distracting from more pressing national concerns, according to interviews with numerous former White House officials. Rights are owned by The Regents of the University of California. President Barack Obama, accompanied by Warren, right, and Geithner, left, announces in September 2010 from the White House Rose Garden that Warren will head the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, which she helped to create, in an advisory role.
