£16m financial support package for Northern Ireland's arts organisations and heritage sectors

This is a Y chromosome Project and only follows a direct paternal line. Thanks to the National Lottery Heritage Fund and the Titanic Foundation for facilitating this piece of work. Built in 1840 as a Church of Ireland place of worship, Cushendun Old Church was deconsecrated in 2003.

Funding News — Supporting Communities

Blue Plaques are a universally recognised symbol celebrating men and women who have enriched the life of their communities and they are erected on buildings, many of which are a significant part of our architectural past. Membership in the project is free and open to all of Ulster ancestry. Successful projects must contribute towards the delivery of one of the Together: Building a United Community T:BUC Strategy key priorities.

National Trust

In 2006, he became the first Director of Collections at National Museums Northern Ireland, a role which encompassed all collections and collections-based activities at the Ulster Museum, the Ulster Folk and Transport Museum and the Ulster American Folk Park. Disadvantaged Sections of Society Kilcreggan Homes Capital support helped Kilcreggan Homes, located in Carrickfergus. Research carried out by the Trust revealed in 2020 that 93, nearly one third, of their houses and gardens had connections with colonialism and historic slavery: 'this includes the global slave trades, goods and products of enslaved labour, abolition and protest, and the East India Company'.

Ulster Architectural Heritage secures funding for Hands

The Old Church Centre The Old Church has been given a new lease of life and will be available for heritage events, drama, concerts, meetings, community activities and much more. An agreed first step was the creation of a form that would allow the collation of member group contact and event details.

What We Fund

These are examples of themes and not set criteria. Members may also propose and vote on motions at the annual general meeting. In recognition of this and to retain and build upon the pool of volunteers, support will be offered to purchase for example, but not restricted to, branded clothing

Hi-Viz vests, hoodies, fleeces etc.

Ulster Heritage DNA
