Aḥmad ibn Yahyā al-

The attitudes and beliefs expressed are on the whole characteristic of the early ascetics, who regarded the conduct of the Prophet as the supreme example. He recounts the main developments of Hishām's reign such as the revolts of the Khawārij in 'Irāq, and pays particular attention to the events which took place there during the governorships of Khālid al-Qasrī and Yūsuf b.

Ibn Duraid

While acknowledging that this is not direct evidence that Copernicus has access to al-Tusi's work, it does show that it was possible. Abstract: Kitāb ādāb al-murīdīn is unique among known Ṣūfi compositions in that it presents Ṣūfism from the standpoint of ādāb rules of conduct.

Hani b. 'Urwa

Later on he corresponded with , the son-in-law of , and it seems that mysticism, as propagated by Sufi masters of his time, was not appealing to him. Al-Fakhrī fī ādāb al-sultānīya wa al-duwal al-islāmīya.
