. It works much like it did in 1977 and 1978: Congress creates the grant-related laws and regulations. The university system was granted 489 patents in 2015, the most of any academic body worldwide.

Government Grants and Loans

The elaborate on this concept and address considerations such as whether the cost is of a type generally necessary for the organization's operations or the grant's performance, whether the recipient complied with its established organizational policies in incurring the cost or charge, and whether the individuals responsible for the expenditure acted with due prudence in carrying out their responsibilities to the Federal government and the public at large as well as to the organization. It will therefore be for each institution to work with its trade unions, staff and students to determine specific actions to apply this guidance in their own particular circumstances. For these other goods, the
