Framework for Creating a Smart Growth Economic Development Strategy

Whether attracting growth to maximize opportunity built around community strengths or accounting for the many unknowns caused by major disruptions, a robust economic development strategy is essential to the recovery of virtually every city, county, regional government and development organization in the United States. Our vision for change focuses on our activity and efforts across six priority areas including health, education, neighbourhoods, economy, climate and culture. Community, business and industry were engaged with throughout the development of the strategy via 1:1 interviews, industry workshops, online surveys and business engagement events.

Governor Laura Kelly Announces Comprehensive ‘Framework for Growth’ Economic Development Strategy

Insights gained from the Collaboration Area Program informed four key themes that underpin our process and approach - promoting shared ownership, maintaining an outcomes focus, creating strong foundations and perseverance.

Strategies and policies

Through the Framework for Growth, Kansas will be one of the first states in the nation to take a comprehensive look at the new normal beyond COVID-19 and develop a wholistic strategy to guide state-level economic development policy. The area includes the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, TAFE NSW, University of Notre Dame, University of Sydney and University of Technology Sydney, and medical and research institutions. The Strategy was adopted by the Greater Sydney Commission in March 2020.

Enterprise Strategy

It displays quarterly highlights, key facts, points of interest and comparative data to previous quarters.

Baker Tilly

The Strategy was approved by the Greater Sydney Commission in December 2019. The Place Strategy identifies a vision and shared objectives for the place and sets out priorities and actions to realise this vision. Rather than simply seeking to attract major employers to replace these lost jobs, several cities have tried a different method to anticipate and overcome some of these challenges.
