Remembrances of Spring: Collected Early Poems.

But that, for the moment, is another story. Til the day you die.

Naomi Long Madgett and the Lotus Press Papers 1937

Such scenes no more demand the tear humane ; I see, I see! And when the coming dawn drives folk to work, Go out and show yourselves, Belching your ill-digested orgies forth; Flaunting your pomp before their humble fast; Nor dream the day when, at your gilded gate, Grim Hunger and his brother Death shall wait. The poem's closing metaphor of a loveless relationship being like a song in which two voices never harmonized remains one of the strongest in the English language, or any language. Butter, Shelley's Idols of the Cave Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press, 1954.

These are great teaching aids and make the connection between poetry and painting, much discussed in recent criticism, clear.

XIII The Nineteenth Century: The Victorian Period

In glittering slate twice fifty guineas come, — His Mother's iilate antique had rais'd the sum. Shall throhTm every pulse, shall flow thro' every vein! Some modernist influence could be seen as troubling in this regard.
