Miss Kilmansegg and her Precious Leg: A Golden Legend by Thomas Hood

This is an EXACT reproduction of a book published before 1923.

Miss Kilmansegg and Her Precious Leg : A golden legend

This would be the basic fuel of his fame as the leading English comic poet of the 1830s and 1840s, and it even inflects his first ventures, a poetry of belated Keatsian romanticism, with homages to Keatsian genres, subjects, themes, even titles. There are contemporary references, so have Google to hand if you want to get the most out of it. This is the only pure set of this title now for sale, totally unsophisticated, this is the original Carla Strassburger set, with her gilt morocco bookplate mounted on front endsheet, from the 1975 Sotheby Parke Bernet Sale in New York.

Representing some Late Romantic

By the Middle Ages the left side was more associated with bad luck.

However, both poem and radio adaption are quite entertaining because both are well-written in sly rhyme. As a reproduction of a historical artefact, this work may contain missing or blurred pages, poor pictures, errant marks, etc.

Thomas Lovell Beddoes 1803-1849 has always had a coterie, then a cult following, more so now that his heterodoxies—radical republicanism, political agitation, and homosexuality—are part of the discussion. Terry would often donate them to the Make a Wish foundation for auction, or give them to fans and mascots, as a keep sake to take home from the game. The original Wynkyn de Worde leaf in our copy is folio 53 and appears to be of the final words of the first part of the text the first two pages of the index.

Further they were more than 11 times as likely to pick the narrow-hipped morph as more attractive, and eight times as likely to choose the long-thighed morph. In antiquity, only the very powerful women went unshaven, Cleopatra was known for her beautiful, long, luxurious pubic hair, which she proudly wore brushed, oiled, and on full display. And when she took a ride in the Park, Equestrian Lord, or pedestrian Clerk, Was thrown in an amorous fever, To see the Heiress how well she sat, With her groom behind her, Bob or Nat, In green, half smother'd with gold, and a hat With more gold lace than beaver.
