Virginia Church History • FamilySearch

The county is named for Sussex County in England. During his Rectorate the parish maintained its commitment to Anglo-Catholic worship and remained an active voice in the Diocese.

Lawnes Creek, Chippoakes Creek, Blackwater River in 1600's

Journal of the Committee of Safety of Virginia, February 7-July 5, 1776 — v. Several members of the Puritan Bennett family also came to settle the area, including Richard Bennett who led the Puritans to neighboring Nansemond in 1635, and later became governor of the Virginia Colony. Their areas north of the river were combined into Southwark Parish, so that Lawne's Creek Parish ceased to exist as a separate entity.

Lawne's Creek Parish

John Smith as palisades were being built on the island.
