Parking Facility Wash-Down Check with the parking manager to ensure that an annual or semi-annual or steam cleaning is performed. A new elevator system can travel horizontally as well as vertically allowing for greater use of the elevator shaft and potential to create safer access and egress especially in tall buildings. Emerging Issues Transportation Parking facilities can serve an important role as a point of passage for the driver from the car to other forms of transportation due to their typical use as the first and last mile part of travel.

Enforcement Hours // Parking & Transportation // University of Missouri

By addressing the pedestrian within the facility and parking lots they can become a part of a total urban design system addressing our aging society and the important gateway issues of this type. Pedestrian Access Although safety for the pedestrian has been a recent concern in parking facility design with adequate lighting and open stairwell and elevator design, the actual movement of the pedestrian through the facility has rarely been designed for.

Garage Ventilation

Pay-on-foot machines accept cash, credit, and validations. As the name implies, the system is designed to keep the garage fans running continuously and vary motor speeds based on CO concentrations in the garage.
