Staff View: A short abstract of Doctor H. Chamberlen's proposals to the honourable House of Commons, the last sessions

The Industrial Development Corporation has stepped in with a R1 billion almost 58 million euros fund for small-scale small farmers, the Department of Agriculture, Land Reform and Rural Development announced a few weeks ago.

Thanksgiving Proclamation, 3 October 1789

This body was to draw up a memorial to the Queen to dismiss her Whig Ministers and choose others who would make the Charter an immediate Cabinet question. Its modest successes taught elementary lessons of self-discipline and self-government that made the slow development of British democracy possible without danger to the national stability and well-being.

At the National Convention, held on April 21 at London, there was more feeling in favour of the Land Scheme, though there were still good Chartists who were afraid lest it should swallow up Chartism. The Land Scheme, like the Petition, had ended in ridicule and contempt. Towards nightfall there ensued slight disturbances, the breaking down of the railings round the Nelson Column and the smashing of lamps in front of Buckingham Palace.

Then came the turn of the leaders to pay the penalty. CHAPTER XVII THE DECLINE OF CHARTISM 1842—1863 1 The Plug Plot and its Consequences 1842—1843 Chartism stood helpless when the combination of Whigs and Tories had thrown out of Parliament the National Petition of 1842.

England's glory, or, The great improvement of trade in general, by a royal bank, or office of credit...

Political Chartism was a real though limited thing: social Chartism was a protest against what existed, not a reasoned policy to set up anything concrete in its place. For this reason the operatives' resistance to the employers' action was called in Lancashire the Plug Plot.
