Helen of Troy (film)

In this lesson, we'll describe Helen of Troy and explore Homer's description of her in The Iliad. Helen of Troy was the most beautiful woman who ever lived. The Story of Helen. Helen was born in Sparta, the daughter of Leda of the poem 'Leda and the Swan', which tells of Helen's conception and Zeus, king of the gods. Around this time there was a great event among the Olympians: the marriage of the goddess Thetis to the mortal Peleus. A richly detailed, meticulous portrait of Helen of Troy set in a sweeping epic tale.

Helen of Troy by Margaret George

Whomever Helen's mother's husband Tyndareus chose, the others all agreed to support him.

Helen of Troy, The Beauty Who Sparked the Trojan War

By the age of twenty, the world's most beautiful woman was resigned to a passionless marriage until she encountered the handsome Trojan prince Paris. At first she was given refuge on Rhodes by Polyxo, the widow of Tlepolemus, one of the Greek leaders who had died in the Trojan War. Later, a number of suitors tried to win her hand, eventually being the victor.

Helen of Troy (TV Mini)

I have waited a generation, I can wait no longer! To her marriage to Menelaus where she resigns herself to a passionless life and finally to the day she meets Paris after an encounter with Aphrodite. What is unique about this novel is the strong and independent feminine voice of the narrator who deals with the burden of circumstances, curses, fate, and people who drastically change her life.
