Method for Creating Wisdom from Knowledge

What is the value of the knowledge management? The effort of valuing information independent of its association with the related tangible seems to be difficult, if not futile, exercise. A cooperative communication framework like social network permits to share knowledge and create common models that evolve themselves naturally like an organic organism. Then knowledge is the result of lessons we learned by exploitation of our wisdom! Taxonomy, tool suite, content management, ongoing operational support, organizational dynamics, and individual motivation must all be blended into a dynamic, self-sustaining system.
